PASSPORT BUREAU, Sept. 26, 1892.

Mr. Louis Marks, 19 Përsyth street, N. Y.
Sir: Herewith I return to you application for passport, certificate of naturalization and 31 fee.

It appears from your sworn statement that you arrived in the United States from Humburg, July, 1857, and were naturalized October, 1888, a little over one year from the time of arrival. Under the circumstances a passport cannot be issued to you. Respectfully, D. Randold'il, Passport Clerk.

An "Evening World" reporter made an examination of the recorus in the Superior Court and found that Louis Marks, who gave his address as 69 Forsyth street, then, was naturalized on Oct. 19, 1888, and that his witness was Myer Marks, of 56 Allen street.

It appears from the records that several hundred other allens were made citizens on the same day, and in the rush the cierks may not have had time to ask the usual stereotyped questions which the citizen-makers teach their proteges to answer, or It asked Marks

ITALIAN CITIES FLOODED.

Heavy Rains Cause Loss of Life and Destruction of Property.

ROME. Oct. 3.—Heavy rains have raised the water in all the streams near Florence. Lucca, Genoa and Bologna. All the districts round these cities are partly flooded. Several railways are under water for miles, and no regular train service is in operation. In the country bridges and houses have been swept away in the floods and many persons have been drowned. Much stock has been killed and thousands of acres nave been laid waste.

was heard to-day by the General Term of the Supreme Court. Dailey was sent to the penitentiary for one year for assaulting Mrs. Annie Hannan, mother of Mamie Hannan, whom, it was alleged, he had ruined. Counsel for Dailey argued that because of errors in the trial and in the charge of the Judge to the jury the conviction should not stand and a new trial should be granted. Decision was reserved.

It is also reported that he was married to Miss Hendricks in Philadelphia about a year age and before his wife applied for a divorce. Mr. James made no defense to the action brought by Miss Wainwright and declines to say anything about his reported marriage to Miss Hendricks.

Lawyer Gifford, who represents Marle Wainwright in her suit for divorce, said this morning:

"I have no knowledge as to Mr. arrestel Matiello. was standing in front of one of his places at the corner of Ninety-seventh street and Third avenue, last evening, when Policeman Patrick Dwyer came along and ordered him to move.

According to Boylan's story, Dwyer began to abuse him, when a colored man, employed by Boylan, rushed out and knocked the policeman down.

Dwyer then arrested Boylan and took him to the station-house, where he was balled out. In court this morning his story was corroborated by James McFarland, and he was discharged.

Justice Welde reprimended Dwyer, who is alleged to have been drunk, and tool him he was a disgrace to the force.
